

Wall Street Awaits Statement of Steel Company's Infilled Orders

STOCKS SLOW, GENERALLY QUIET, UNIMPORTANT CHANGES IN ACTIVE LEADERS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—At the immediate opening of the market today the list was showing gains of the fractional order and the feeling seemed to favor a continuation of the upward movement, but the trading element played a reaction and found the market rather plastic, not especially weak, but sufficiently yielding to wipe out the earlier gains and in some of the less important stocks to drop off from a small fractional decline to 1/4 point, while a few other stocks were decidedly strong. Especial mention is deserved by Rubber first preferred, which rose from a closing of 10 3/4 yesterday to 10 1/2, nothing between. Erie common was another firm security with a full point advance. Smelter was off a full point and the Hill shares were not acting as well as they have been doing.

The loan crowd shows a lessening of the short interest, a fact that is entirely reportable with the covering movement in the last few days. Taking away this nervous support at a time when a bull movement is underway indicates a change in the market.

General opinion was not entirely settled in its views of the probabilities. The fact that the monthly report, the initial one at that, of the Steel Corporation, showing the unfilled tonnage is to come out this afternoon was in itself sufficient to keep some traders on the fence. It is of sufficient importance to push the rally a couple of points further or to turn it back by the same amount.

Wall Street has not attempted to make any estimates of the showing to be made in response to the resolution offered by J. Pierpont Morgan. As today's figures on unfilled orders on the books of the corporation will cover the

WASHINGTON GAS ACTIVE AND HIGHER

Washington Gas showed its class today when quite a large business was transacted and the stock was run up from 74 to 75, the latest comparison being with 75 buyer, forty-five days, although there were buyers yesterday at 74 cash, or regular. The Street is beginning to think that the share-holders are to get the largest slice of the melon, ripening ahead the ideas of September, when, if there are no legal obstacles in the way, it is proposed to cut it. There are many who are of the opinion that the outline plans are but a partial indication of the action taken. Insiders in the Gas company are known to have greatly enlarged their holdings of stock recently, and the buying at this time is from good sources.

Railway 4's were very active at 84, breaking to 83 1/2, with one small bond at 85 1/2, and recovering to a close at 83 1/2.
